A new decadeA new year

Ever made a New Year resolution you didn't fulfil?

Often people think "I'd like to sell my business" or "Our lease is up later this year I must think about our premises needs" or "I must make a will" or "I'd like to buy an investment property".

Life is what happens when you are making day to day decisions. But you, your family and your business can be caught out by simple things not being attended to. Sometimes they are things that do not seem to be complicated or even very important. More often than not they are risks that are not even on your radar.

In these complex times it pays to have an annual Legal Health Check. You need to have the peace of mind of knowing that you understand the risks; you have made the plans and you have the documentation in place to help you handle issues in your business and in your life – exciting or unpleasant. An offer too good to refuse for your business or a dispute with a client or staff member... An older family member needing help with their affairs. An illness or death in the family. Considering the issues, risks and options gives you confidence, support and strategies to handle issues.
